
Acquisition of Envirochem Technologies

13 May 2010

ASX limited

The board of Tox Free Solutions Ltd (Tox Free) is pleased to announce the completion of the acquisition of Envirochem Technologies (Envirochem).

Envirochem is a leading provider of chemical waste collection, treatment and disposal services in all major cities throughout the east coast of Australia including Tasmania. Envirochem operate a licensed hazardous waste management facility located in Melbourne, Victoria. The facility is licensed to treat a broad range of industrial and hazardous wastes and has been in operation since 1993.

The acquisition of Envirochem will complement Barry Bros. Melbourne operations as well as Tox Free's other hazardous waste facilities on the east coast of Australia.

Mr. Mike Pola, the Director of Envirochem, has over 20 years experience in the hazardous waste management industry and his skills and intellectual property will positively contribute to the growth opportunities on the East Coast of Australia for Tox Free. Mike will continue employment with Tox Free for a minimum term of two years.

This is a significant acquisition for Tox Free that will assist in positioning the Group as a leading national provider of industrial and waste management services.

Yours faithfully

STEVE GOSTLOW
Managing Director
